

BROOKLAND FOLK PLAN ROSE SHOW

Fifth Annual Exhibition Will Be Held May 25 and 26
in Suburb.

10,000 BLOOMS EXPECTED

Brookland, University Heights, and Rhode Island Avenue Citizens
Unite with Rose Society.

The fifth annual rose exhibition held under auspices of the Rose Society of Brookland, and the Citizens' associations of Brookland, University Heights, and Rhode Island Avenue extended, will be held on May 25 and 26, at the Masonic Temple, at Twelfth and Monroe streets northeast.

According to the predictions of the rose growers, it will be the largest and most complete exhibition yet given, and it is believed that some ten thousand blooms will be admitted to the competition. The exhibition will be opened about 9 o'clock on the afternoon of May 25, and will remain open until Friday evening about 10 o'clock. It will be an exhibition of flowers grown by amateurs. No admission is charged to the public. The public, especially that portion of it interested in raising the queen of flowers, has been invited to attend.

The officers of the associations in general charge of the affair are: Marvin M. McLean, president of the Brookland Citizens, and B. E. Hutchinson, secretary; D. H. Oertley, president of University Heights, and Franklin T. Howe, secretary; S. S. Symons, president of the Rhode Island Avenue Association; Dr. Alphonso Patten, president of the Rose Society, and M. B. Downing, secretary.

The joint committee in charge of the exhibition is composed of: Marvin M. McLean, chairman; Dr. John B. Parker, vice chairman; B. E. Hutchinson, secretary; Lee R. Wilson, assistant secretary; E. C. Saitman, treasurer; Dr. William Turner, C. H. Etz, A. J. Doering, Fred W. Murphy, Charles J. Cassidy, C. H. Hoskins, Joseph E. Ralston, John McPhaul, C. F. Tansil, A. S. Ormsby, Arthur Allen Carpenter, Bushrod C. Washington, R. A. Bolen, George L. Clayton, A. Minnick, Emmett Midkiff, S. D. Boss, E. D. Stocking, H. J. Savage, C. B. Phelps, George Sargent, Dr. R. W. Frickhoff, E. A. Carpenter, J. E. Eastlack, Harry Eaton Brooks.

The ladies committee which will act as housewives during the exhibition are: Mrs. Margaret B. Downing, chairman; Miss Carrie Harrison, vice chairman; Mrs. Joseph E. Ralston, Mrs. Arthur Allen Carpenter, Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels, Mrs. Mary Ward Burr, Mrs. Nannie Fitzwilliams, Mrs. J. L. Whiteside, Mrs. Alice Murphy, Mrs. J. A. Eastlack, Mrs. D. H. Oertley, Mrs. A. Patten, Mrs. J. L. Sherwood, Mrs. George Oberly, Mrs. C. P. Judge, Mrs. Franklin T. Howe, Mrs. S. S. Symons, Miss Ella Reese, Miss Mabel White, Mrs. Emma Edmunds, Mrs. A. E. Landry, Mrs. S. Riden, Mrs. A. Minnick, Mrs. W. S. Ayers, Mrs. Sophia Kerman, Mrs. Charles J. Cassidy, Mrs. J. L. Kauser, and Mrs. A. J. Doering.

The judges of the exhibition will be: Dr. Furman L. Mulford, of the National Rose Garden, at Arlington; William F. Gude, and T. W. Stalman, of Oakton, Va. The principal prizes are seven medals—three gold, two silver, and two bronze—and numerous blue, red, and white ribbons and certificates of merit.

BILL FOR CENSORSHIP OF "MOVIES" REPORTED

Representative Hughes Urges House to Pass Measure Providing for Federal Board.

Representative Hughes, of Georgia, submitted to the House yesterday the formal report from the Committee on Education urging the passage of the bill providing for Federal censorship of moving pictures. It asserts that Federal censorship is the only way by which moving picture producers can escape the burdensome restrictions that will be imposed upon them by State and municipal authorities.

The sponsor of the bill becomes a law, the better it will be for the industry," says Mr. Hughes in his report. "For it would be much easier to prevent the formation of a State or city board of censorship by showing that there is already in existence an efficient Federal regulation than it will be to have a local board abolished which was created before the Federal law became effective. In any event the national board will be considered the leading motion picture commission and its decisions will carry the weight of leadership. Should a picture be passed by the national board a local board would have to give a good reason to the public for prohibiting the exhibition of the picture."

SAYS PELLAGRA CAN BE CURED BY PROPER DIET

Expert Addresses Conference of Health
Boards at New Willard—Officers Are Elected.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Conference of State and Provincial Boards of Health of North America, at the New Willard, was brought to a close last night with the election of officers for the ensuing year. Officers elected were Dr. T. D. Tiedler, of Washington, State president; Dr. S. L. Jettson, of West Virginia, vice president, and Dr. E. R. Kelly, of Massachusetts, secretary and treasurer.

Among the important subjects discussed at the meeting were "Conservation of Vision," "Pellagra," "Relation of Federal and State Authorities in Sanitary Regulation of Common Carriers," "Model State, District and County Health Laws," and "Recent Advances in Sanitary Laws, Organization and Practice." Each of the subjects has been given to a committee for investigation.

Dr. J. A. Hayne, chairman of the pellagra committee, told the delegates that it is now generally recognized that proper food is both a preventive and curative of this disease. The committee now is investigating the varieties of food deemed best in such cases.

32 WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Lucy Webb Hayes Training School Graduation Exercises Tonight.

Thirty-two members of the graduating class of the Lucy Webb Hayes National Training School will be awarded diplomas at commencement exercises to be held tonight at the school, 1150 North Capitol street. The program will consist of essays and addresses by members of the class. Musical numbers will be given by the Hamline Church Quartet.

The annual Alumni Association dinner was held last night. On Monday evening "Hospital Night" was observed. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, being the principal speaker. Class night exercises were held last Saturday evening and a musical was given on Friday night.

Purely Personal

Mrs. Charles Ward, wife of the Representative from New York, is spending a few days with her husband at the Willard. Mrs. Ward is living in New York, where their children are at school.

Representative Daniel Griffin, of New York, has registered at the Capitol Park Hotel, where it is expected he will make his headquarters for the remainder of the session.

Mrs. Inez Milholland-Boisvain, prominent in woman suffrage circles, is spending a few days with relatives at the Continental Hotel, this city.

Theodore L. Ricketts, clerk in the office of the Public Utilities Commission, is on leave this week.

Dr. William Tindall is back at his desk in the office of the secretary to the District Commissioners after an extended illness.

Mrs. Ormsby McCammon, who recently underwent an operation at the Emergency Hospital, is reported to be improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Cobb have gone to their summer home at Bethesda, Md.

Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, left Washington yesterday for her home at Raleigh, N. C.

Frederick Law Olmstead, of Brookline, Mass., and Edwin H. Blackfield, of New York, are in Washington to attend the sessions of the Fine Arts Commission at the New Willard.

John P. Bray, consul general of the United States at Singapore, and Mrs. Bray are in Washington for a few days and are registered at the New Willard.

Mrs. J. F. Hull, Miss Helde, Mrs. W. L. Ward, and Charles F. Cosum arrived in Washington yesterday after a motor trip from Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

George A. Loomis has received an appointment as an assistant chemist in the Bureau of Standards.

Judge George W. Atkinson, retired justice of the United States Court of Claims, is ill at the home of his son, George W. Atkinson, Jr., at 303 P street northwest.

Charles A. Rice has been appointed a copist in the General Land Office.

Alexander S. Richardson, a copist in the General Land Office, has been promoted to a clerkship.

Brainerd H. Warner, real estate operator, is ill at his home in Chevy Chase, Md.

James N. Sullivan has received an appointment as an expert clerk in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

George Gibson was the recent guest of friends at Falls Church, Va.

Mrs. S. H. Hable, of Winchester, Va., has returned to her home after a visit of several weeks in the Capital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reed, of Washington, have motored home from Martinsburg, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Bacon are spending a few days in Atlantic City.

John Kirby, of the staff of the New York World in Washington, left yesterday morning for Mexico to handle the news of the Mexican trouble for that publication.

Mr. and Mrs. Paeta C. Oberlin have returned to Washington after a ten days visit to their summer home in Herndon, Va.

TOMORROW'S MENU.

"It is a good thing to eat your brown bread first."

English Proverb.

BREAKFAST.

Strawberries.

Rice and Sausage.

Coffee.

LUNCHEON OR SUPPER.

Hamburger Steak.

Fried Potatoes.

Brown Bread.

Sliced Oranges.

DINNER.

Asparagus Soup.

Cold Roast Beef.

Creamed Potatoes.

Vegetable Marrow.

Tomato Salad.

Cream Puffs.

Rice and sausage: Spread a baking dish to the depth of two inches with cooked and seasoned rice. Spread with sausage meat half an inch deep and bake in a hot oven.

Baked brown bread: Cream two tablespoonsful of butter with half a cupful of brown sugar and add one well beaten egg, half a cupful of molasses, and a cupful of buttermilk.

Mix together a cupful of white flour,

three of graham flour, a teaspoonful of soda and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Add to the other ingredients and bake in two loaves.

Vegetable marrow: Boil a good sized vegetable marrow, cut it in pieces, pour over it a cupful of white sauce, a little salt and pepper and a thin layer of grated cheese. Bake for fifteen minutes.

In January the Bank of the Netherlands had more than $14,000,000 in gold, as against $4,824,000 in gold before the war.

Keep Young

Just as well be young at seventy as old at nifty.

Many people

past middle age

suffer lame, bent,

aching backs,

and distressing

urinary disorders, when a little help for the kidneys would fix it all up.

Don't wait for gravel, dropsy,

or Bright's disease to get a start. Use

Doan's Kidney

Pills. They have helped thousands,

young and old.

They are the most widely used remedy

for bad backs

and weak kidneys

in the whole world.

Here's a Washington Case

Mrs. Mary L. Burner, 1111 Irving street northwest, says: "For years I suffered from kidney disease and kept going just about, although I was under the care of physicians. I had rheumatic pains through my back and limbs and was too weak to do my housework. The doctor wanted to operate on me, but I would not give my consent. Doan's Kidney Pills did me of the trouble.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

50c at all Drug Stores

Foster-Milburn Co. Props. Buffalo, N.Y.

BEDTIME STORY FOR THE LITTLE ONES

PUSS IN BOOTS, Jr.

By DAVID CORY.

Puss Meets Boy Blue.

To think that he had saved little Piggy Pucker from Tom the Piper's Son gave Puss Junior more pleasure than anything he had done up to this time. It made him feel so happy that he almost whistled with delight as he marched along the highway.

Suddenly the sound of a loud blast from a horn came across the meadow. He stopped to listen. Again he heard the sharp notes of the bugle, and in another moment from out of the cornfields on the left rushed a herd of cows. He jumped to the top rail of the fence to get out of their way as they trotted past him down the road toward a farmhouse a short distance away.

"I wonder who blew that horn," he said to himself, and jumping down, he started to cross the meadow. A flock of sheep were quietly grazing and hardly noticed him as he walked by.

In the center of the field was a big haymow, and as he was about to pass it he noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep.

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn," said Puss Junior.

"For goodness sake, don't say that again," cried the little lad, sitting up and rubbing his eyes. "It's bad enough to have to wake up and blow my horn every morning without some one making me do it again."

"But just think what would happen if you didn't," answered Puss. "They'd probably eat up all the corn."

"Oh, I don't know," Boy Blue replied.

"You're right," said Puss Junior, "but I noticed on the shady side a pretty boy in blue fast asleep."

"Sometimes I think it's only a dream I have; but, then, again, when I do blow my horn it all seems quite real again."

"Puss Junior didn't answer; he was watching a pretty girl walking across the meadow with a big cushion under her arm. "Who's she?" he asked.

"Little Miss Muffitt," he answered. "She takes her lunch out here every day. Let's run over suggested Puss."

"Wait a minute till I see whether my sheep are all right. You know, ever since Little Bo Peep lost her sheep I get dreadfully worried about mine."

The sheep seemed to be perfectly safe and happily cropping the grass. "Well, come on," Boy Blue cried, "give me your paw and we'll both run over and surprise her."

"Wait a minute, please," shouted Puss. "My boot is coming off," and before he could stop off it flew. He hopped along on one leg and almost stumbled before he regained his balance.

"Ha, ha!" laughed Boy Blue, "here's your boot. Mr. Puss: put your paw on my shoulder and steady yourself while you pull it on; it's too damp here to sit on the grass."

"Yes," said Puss. "I've got my toes all wet; I couldn't help putting my foot down once to keep from falling. It's a pretty hard work pulling a boot on with a wet foot," he added, as he vainly tugged away.

"Don't bother about it here," said Boy Blue. "Jump on my back, and I'll carry you over where Little Miss Muffitt is; it's high ground there, and nice and dry."

Puss scrambled up and rode "piggy-back" the rest of the way.

"Good morning, Miss Muffitt; here's my friend, Puss in Boots Junior," said Little Boy Blue, as Puss slid down from his back.

"You've lost your shoe," she said, looking at Puss Junior's little bare toes.

"No, no, it's here," he answered. "Only my foot is so wet I can't get it on."

"Come over here and I'll dry your toes with my handkerchief," said Miss Muffitt.

"Do you like curds and whey?" she asked, uncovering a dish of delicious looking white curd stuff.

"But before he could reply there came a big spider, who sat down beside her, and frightened Miss Muffitt away."

"She won't come back," said Boy Blue, as Puss called after the little girl. "This happened once before, and she was afraid to come back for about a week."

"Well, we might as well finish the curds and whey," said Puss, who had liked the first spoonful. "Let's finish it!" And he licked his whiskers.

GIRL BRIDE TRIES TO END LIFE AFTER TIFF

18-Year-Old Wife Takes Gas Rather Than Obey Husband's Orders.

Detroit, Mich., May 16.—Mrs. Edward Schubert, only 18 years old and a bride of just ten months, Edward Schubert is equally young, but fully imbued with the dignity of head of a household. He believes, according to Mrs. Schubert, that it is the husband's duty to command, the wife's but to obey. A little family tiff ended in the young wife's turning on the gas jets in the kitchen range this afternoon in an attempt to end her life.

Sitting in a chair unconscious before the stove, neighbors found her about ten minutes after she had turned on the gas. They rushed her into the air, but she revived before a physician arrived with a pulmonary.

The government of South Africa has erected a large sugar mill to encourage the cultivation of cane in Zululand.

GEN. SCOTT'S SON HUNTS TURKEYS AND BANDITS

Lieutenant in Fifth Cavalry Writes
That Villa and Other Wild Game
Are Keeping Him Busy.

First Lieut. Hunter Scott, of the Fifth Cavalry, son of Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Chief of staff of the army, today is hunting wild turkey and Francisco Villa in territory where two years ago his father was invited to hunt quail as the guest of the Mexican bandit.

When Villa was at the height of his power he and Gen. Scott were good friends. At a conference along the border Villa asked Gen. Scott to join him in a turkey hunt in Chihuahua. Gen. Scott said he would after Villa's fighting was over.

Yesterday friends of young Scott here got letters from him "somewhere in Mexico" saying he was having a good time hunting turkeys when not engaged in hunting Villa.

According to an official German test, networks of telephone wires over a city tend to diminish the danger from lightning.

Underinflation Ruins 65